Tabb Forfeits Tradition

Challenging the historic setting found throughout York County, Tabb High School forfeited tradition to offer students a new, dynamic, and modern learning opportunity.

To the majority of the students Tabb was totally different. Several students questioned went as far as to remark "I've never seen anything like it!"

A Real "Cool" Place ... Literally

The contemporary structure was designed by Oliver, Smith, and Cooke AIA Architects. Students and faculty described the symmetrical 154,000 square feet as "quite convenient." The carpeting and air conditioning were highly commended. However, students did express a desire for "windows to see outside." Situated on 30 acres of land, the building and property development was contracted to William Jordon, Incorporated, a company that overcame the technical problems to complete the assignment in fourteen months. Doors opened to the masses August 28th, 1972. Built to accommodate 1250-1600 students, by September 5th, Tobb had only been blessed with 950 eager young students, since only the ninth, tenth, and eleventh graders attend this year.

Facilities Designed for Student Needs

Keeping in mind student interest, the architects designed facilities for the student, both in the crowd and as an individual.

The auditorium, equipped with a large stage and prop rooms, was designed to seat 967 people. Here students, and members of the community as well, can attend band and choral concerts, student productions, civic meetings and assemblies. When the large auditorium is not necessary, two Kivas* can be used to seat 132 people each and are ideal for lectures, club meetings and classes.

Sports fans in the community and student body enjoy the large gymnasium, able to contain 1600 boisterous spectators. For the sports requiring less space, such as gymnastics and wrestling, an equipped auxiliary gym is also available. Outside, a baseball diamond has been laid as well as plenty of room for physical education classes.

Student facilities also include the two often most essential — the cafeteria and library. The cafeteria was equipped to serve 400 students per block. The library was well stocked with references and new books. Special attention was paid to the availability of personal visual aids at the student's disposal.

Departments Highlighted

In occardance with the new voriety af specialized subjects, classes were arranged far participation. The Drama department was designed with a small stage in the clossroom where students can rehearse their 3-act ploy and spring musical.

Chorus rooms were constructed with the best acaustical design. Percy E. Iranmanger, band directar states that Tabb's band room "is one af the best designed and equipped an the Peninsula." He camments that it is excellent to praduce concerts with the charus, Stage Band concerts, and results in Winchester.

Art raams are described as "the best ta wark with." And business students feel as if they have already gane ta work. "It's proctically an office."

TABB —

A Picture of Change Students . . . The Mirror?

Tobb High School — different from its outside edge ta its inner-mast crevice — is characterized by a new attitude, new technique, and by an effart ta instill new interest. Will the students became a part af this? Whether it be buzzer or bell, carpet ar tile, nine weeks or thirty-six, can Tabb moke the innavations a reality? Samebody daes want their children ta learn. Will those 950 respan?

The Schaal Baard thinks so.

Mr. Miller, principal af Tabb, thinks so.

The faculty thinks so.

Well students, What da you say?

Pentamesters Offer Subjects of Interest

Tabb's faculty began their year with adopting the pentamester system of courses in lieu of the traditional full year subjects. In this system students choose four nine-week courses to be collaborated into one credit. This enabled students to choose areas of personal interest and to break away from the full year routine. For example, students could learn communications skills, particular areas of literature; speech, journalism, speed reading, or others instead of the standard requirement — English. With the adoption of this new system, days are shortened to six periods.

'Somebody Sure Wants Us To Be Smart!!'

This addition to the County's fine scholastic standing was financed through a local bond issue. It has been said statistics make one more appreciative. If so, the citizens of York County will be proud to know that the building alone totalled a cost of $3,091,584.12. Its surrounding property is valued at $140,000.00. However, interest was not solely taken in the school's outward appearance. $500,000.00 was spent on facilities to aid the student. "$3,731,584.12!!! and that's not even including teacher's pay! Somebody sure wants us to be smart!" — overheard.

BEGINNINGS

Even a journey of a thousand miles begins with one step . . .

Lao-Tzu

And so it was with Tabb High — the first step being the erection of the building. Pounding hammers and instructive cries from foremen became familiar sounds in the vicinity of the construction project. Everyone labeled it "the new high school," but soon it was named, TABB HIGH SCHOOL!

In a short period of time, the maze-like structure began to take shape. Final touches were added and the building was at long last completed.

Within a week of the school's opening, all the administration, faculty, and staff were actively engaged in preparation for the arrival of the students.

With the students came excitement and the beginning of another school year, TABB'S FIRST!

The dormant halls were awakened by the spirited Tabb students. With them were brought new ideas in an effort to make Tabb rated top among neighboring high schools. The student body worked as one and successfully achieved this goal. From the willingness and cooperation of all classes emerged the foundation for even greater accomplishments to come.

EDUCATORS embark in a broadened instructional program.

A more relaxed and personalized atmosphere prevailed between the faculty and students throughout the first year at Tabb. The faculty met the many challenges of the new curriculum with enthusiasm. A week prior to the opening of school they met to make preparations for their new courses and new places. Their hard work and enthusiasm continued throughout the year.

Administration

After six years of being principal of York High, Mr. Richard Miller earned the privilege of being the first head master of Tabb High School. Inevitably, new schools are faced with a lot of problems, but with the cooperation of the student body, Mr. Miller was able to smooth out the rough spots and easily get Tabb into the swing of things. In his absence, Mr. Charles Cherry and Mr. Edwin Markoff took over the "high seat." While Mr. Markoff headed sports, activities, and corralled school spirit, Mr. Cherry took care of disciplinary measures for problem students.

Coordinating field trips, arranging speakers, and seeing that their departments ran smoothly were jobs assigned to Mr. Tom Diggins, Mrs. Elizabeth Smith, and Mr. Mike Wollard, the department directors. The team leaders provided textbooks for class use, kept records of subject matter taught in each class, assisted the teachers in their plans of instructions, and assisted guidance in assigning schedules for students and teachers.

Checking out books, keeping shelves straight, loaning projectors and providing just plain old information were jobs of our devoted librarians Mrs. Nettie Morgan (top) and Mrs. Cindy Ford (middle left).

Mrs. McLean, Mrs. Jones, Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. Wilshire, and Mrs. Hubbard, the teachers' aides, were considered lifesavers by most every faculty member at Tabb. Taking on some of the teachers' duties, the aides took a load off of many shoulders (middle right).

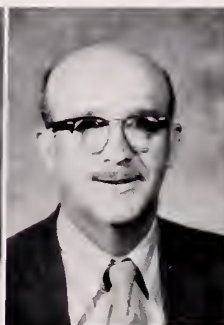

The cafeteria staff, with their never ending duties, provided balanced lunches with added goodies five days a week (bottom).

For the teachers, the 1972-73 school year started long before August 28th. For some, the new pentamester system meant not only having to teach more than one subject, but also specifics under those subjects. Although this called for more work on the teachers part, they still managed to find time to sponsor various clubs, and help out with other extracurricular activities.

First PEOPLE to inhabit Tabb

The new pentamester system at Tabb was met with mixed reactions. Students were able to specialize in specific fields and appreciated the break in monotony. It offered them a new challenge and new tasks every nine weeks. Some students disliked the system because of the pressure put on them by the individualized work assignments, while others enjoyed working on their own.

Much progress was made by the students in academic, extracurricular and athletic areas even without a graduating class.

Juniors . . .

Leading the Way

1973 . . . For the class of 1974 it was a year of indecision, uncertainty, and unpreparedness. No longer were we scornfully called underclassmen, but we now honorably held the title of upperclassmen — and upperclassmen we were. Without seniors at Tabb, the administration left the pace-setting up to the juniors. Eager to do good, well-qualified juniors petitioned for the right to run for class officers. With the guidance of the elected four and the unified efforts from the rest of the class members, a great and memorable year emerged.

Sophomores . . .

Set Forth With Steady Pace

For the sophomore class, the 1972-1973 school year meant no longer being low man on the totem pole. Now aware of what credits are all about, sophomores began realizing that high school is serious business. With this in mind the class of 75 focused on preparing for the future. Aided by the guidance department, they were introduced to the many vocational courses offered by Tabb High. The class officers helped the class put on a successful record hop after the guidance assemblies were finished.

Freshmen . . .

Up Front With Enthusiasm

The class of '76 has faced the new challenges and responsibilities of high school throughout this school year, gaining confidence along the way. The spirit and determination of our class has been shown by the outstanding effort put forth during many of the fund-raising activities for the school. While taking in stride all of the difficulties bestowed upon us; we have greatly enjoyed the novelty of being the first freshmen class to attend Tabb High School.

HAPPENINGS initiate student participation

Giving vitality and refreshing existence the events of Tabb High shaped the course of this year's student body. Many stimulating experiencing were undergone and those who participated hastened to become involved with the activities that were to follow. Anxiety and joyful sensations were amidst the contenders for Miss Tabb High, Basketball Sweetheart and those participating in the school's two plays. The Chorus and Band added to the thrill that went beyond all expectations. And the Ring Dance and Awards produced those special and exclusive moments for those most deserving.

Kathy Collins crowned first Basketball Sweetheart

For two weeks six Basketball Sweetheart nominees asked around school and their neighborhoods for contributions to their funds in order to become the Basketball Sweetheart. The girls raised money to help the cheerleaders go to the Apple Blossom Festival with the band. Collectively they raised approximately $500, with Kathy Collins being crowned Basketball Sweetheart by Coach Rowley with her collection of over $150.

Miss Tabb High

Tabb High's first pageant was produced with few mistakes and Valerie Urie was crowned the first Miss Tabb High. But in the event of Valerie's moving, Charlene Bowman, first runner up, claimed the title. Pam Terry was second runner up and Jana Tanner was Miss Congeniality.

Good News!

Set on a college campus in the 1920's, Tabb High's first musical production, Good News, a comedy spoof, opened May 17 in the Tabb High auditorium. From the close of Thunder on Sycamore Street, Mrs. Pat Wright auditioned future actors and actresses for parts in the play. Mr. William Tew took charge of vocal direction while Mr. Percy Ironmonger directed the band. Because of Mrs. Barbara Zalumus' help in straightening out technical problems, the play went on without a hitch.

Boys' State — Girls' State

Three boys and three girls were chosen to attend Boys' State and Girls' State from our school. Boys' State was held June 17-23 at Lynchburg College. Girls' State was held the same week at Radford College. The boys elected were Lee Deskins, Mike Melo, and Eddie Wright. The alternatives were David Craig, John Prior, and John Dawkins. The girl delegates chosen were Vee Martin, Donna Newsome and Sue Bresee. Their alternates were Charlotte Anderson, Yvette Knott and Cheryl Rivers. Charlotte Anderson attended in the place of Sue Bresee.

Ring Dance

February 24, 1973 marked the climax of the year for most of the juniors. Renting tuxedos, buying gowns, and getting Dad's car for the evening were all events leading up to being at the Chamberlin Hotel at 9:30 p.m. Dancing to the music of the Newport News, juniors socialized amongst themselves and faculty members up until that magic moment. As Mr. Miller and Mrs. Jones passed out the rings, silly grins appeared on faces, as couples kissed and sat back down. "Let me see yours," and "Turn mine," became repeated phrases the remainder of the night. Most decided to call it a night at 12:30 and left with ear to ear smiles.

INVOLVEMENTS inspire school unity

Being newly organized, the clubs of Tabb High School had to first adopt charters and constitutions before plunging into their activities. After becoming organized, with a majority of the student body participating, many became involved in helping the community, acquainting its members with diversified aspects of life and enriching the composition of all they touched.

SCA

The SCA, under the leadership of John Dawkins — President, Pam Chambers — Vice President, Sharla Jones — Secretary, Vee Martin — Treasurer, and Anita Bradshaw — Chaplain, had a very successful year despite many difficulties. Their faculty advisors, Mrs. Soles and Mrs. Hansford, aided them on their various projects.

Bresee, L. Bresee, J. Grimes, G. Dawkins, B. Barnes, C. Sales, and D. Davis.

Key Club — Keyettes

The Key Club and Keyettes are service oriented; both clubs were organized and chartered this year and each embarked on a number of projects. The Key club engaged in clean-up campaigns, ushering at school functions and they also assisted "Patrick Henry Hospital" and the Bargain box. Lee Deskins, the President was elected Lt. Gov. of Division 13. The Keyettes fixed food baskets for needy families at Thanksgiving and honored the teachers at Tabb during National Education Week. At Christmas time, they went caroling at the Home for the Aged and later put themselves at the mercy of the students during Keyette Week.

Tiger Band

The Tiger Band was kept on the move practicing on the field, off the field, and in the street. Money making projects enabled them to attend the Apple Blossom Festival in Winchester, Virginia, emerging victorious with a fourth place trophy. The band, under the direction of Mr. Percy Ironmonger, performed at pep rallies, assemblies, in the musical, as well as in other parades. The musicians were proud to be the first to put a trophy in the showcase.

Majorettes

The Tiger Majorettes marched to the rhythm of the Band throughout the 72-73 school year. They performed their way through pep rallies, football halftimes and Winchester revealing their excellence.

NJROTC

The cadets of NJROTC took many field trips during the course of the instruction and participated in several parades and competitions. They won trophies at the ROTC day at Hampton Institute in April, the Loyalty Day Parade in Hampton in May, and the Armed Forces Day Parade in Hampton as the drill team displayed their skills. The rifle team won the first match of the annual shoulder rifle match with York High School. Great things are expected of the ROTC next year in their second year of operation as young ladies enter the program and benefit by this experience from their first year of operation.

Bengal Staff

Few people realize how much work goes into putting together a yearbook. Even the staff members didn't know until this past year. Working after school 3 days a week for 1½ hours proved to be an insufficient amount of time for laying out pages, cropping pictures, and writing copy. Members had to add non-activity bus days to their schedules as well as staying past 4:00 in order to meet deadlines. With the close of school and the coming of summer, the group found themselves in the middle of an incomplete book. Sheer determination inspired the staff and within 2 weeks of June 8, the Bengal was finished.

Editor's Note . . .

It seems as if an epidemic of inexperience plagued the whole 1972-73 school year at THS. Following with, should I say "tradition," the annual staff caught the disease also. For everyone on the staff, with the exception of Mrs. Harrell, working on the annual was a first. We realize many of the happenings around THS were left out, and we may not have given events and organizations that we did get full coverage. If this is so and you feel slighted, please have your club advisor contact Mrs. Harrell so we can correct our mistakes for next year. We feel that this first year was more or less a learning period and can assure you of bigger and better books in years to come.

GAMES people play

The thrill of victory and the agony of defeat was felt by the fans, coaches and competitors as THS experienced its first year of AAA competition without a senior class. While others doubted their ability the Tigers were determined to prove themselves as winners. It was a trying year; they lacked experience but they made up for it through hustle and dedication. The pride and spirit displayed by the fans was overwhelming. They supported their teams through victories and defeats. Although the losses heavily outweighed the wins, the determination, desire, and courage of the Tigers was very evident in all sports.

Football kicks off winning season

Hard hours of practice throughout the summer, along with routine workouts after school, proved to be worthwhile for the Tabb High football team. From the day of their debut, the mighty Tigers continuously chalked up victory after victory. Although Churchland marred an almost perfect record, the cheerleaders generated pep and kept the Tiger spirit flying high. With the return of the excellent coaching of Mr. Fred Mitchell and crew, Tiger fans can expect a repeat of season #1.

Hurst, D. Craig, D. Pearce, D. Edlaw, Ken Raderick, L. Jennings, B. Cunningham, G. Insley, and K. Perrin.

Cross country team runs and runs and runs . . .

The Cross Country Team ran hard and their determination kept them from quitting. After school they could be seen huffing and puffing around the school, but they didn't stop, just kept on running. Even after the season was over Danny Cheek could still be seen running the course, even in the rain. The team has gained experience, knowledge, and confidence from their first season. Next year, a girl may be eligible to join the team. There are high expectations for Tabb High's second Cross Country season, thanks to the efforts of Coach George Coulter this past year.

Girls basketball bounces to victory

The Girl's Basketball team under the coaching of Mrs. Marilyn Anderson brought a triumphant season to their Tiger fans. The team proved their worth with a final record of 7 wins — 3 losses. Their teamwork and skill earned them 2nd in the district and good chances of becoming No. "1" next year.

Basketball shows promise

Although the Tabb High basketball team had a practically winless season, the games were played better than the 1-19 record indicated. Up against more experienced opponents, the Tiger sophomore and junior squad put out a 100% effort every game. Inspired by Coach Rowley, the team hungered for a victory. After humiliating games in coming so close to catching our prey, the Tigers finally made the Ferguson Mariners their victims.

J V basketball

As in most cases this year the loss column outweighed the wins of the J.V. Basketball record. With the more experienced sophomores on the varsity team, Coach Steve Baker was left with the task of teaching basketball fundamentals, specific plays, and shooting techniques to the remaining squad of 15.

With long hours of practice, and the addition of spirit and determination, the Junior Tigers put their best foot forward every game.

Hey all you Tiger fans!!

Whether yelling at pep rallies, chanting at games, or merely smiling around school, the Tabb High cheerleaders were instrumental in promoting a spirited atmosphere for THS. In an effort to stronger support the school, the squad attended practically all sports events in addition to serving as guides at open house, pom-pom girls in parades, and participating in other extra-curricular activities. Jubilant in victory and encouraging in defeat, the cheerleaders proved to be a vital addition to the school.

Gymnasts spring into action

Gymnastics incorporated six skill areas; the uneven bars, the balance beam, the horse, floor exercise, tumbling, and the category of All-Around which includes all of the previous areas except tumbling. All gymnasts are judged on a scale of one through ten by performing a routine that they originate themselves (optional category) or a routine that the National High School League prepares (compulsory).

Wrestlers come through

Headed by Willard Hunt and George Haase, the wrestlers practiced long and hard hours in the Tiger Den to ready themselves for encounters with experienced opponents. With emphasis on spirit and determination, the squad's record proved to be far from disappointing.

VARSITY TEAM: (l. to r.) D. Hume, J. Vacekonis, S. Windmuller, M. Hartmann, D. Croig, M. Thornberry, L. Taylor, D. Brown, R. Westberry, W. Longevin, R. Smith, and T. Sereno.

Boys Track and Field off to a running start

Up against stiff competition, the boys tried their best and many individuals excelled. Dorrell Hurst in the district meet placed fifth in long jump with a jump of 21 feet, 3½ inches — a school record. He also long jumped at the Eastern

Regional Meet. The one mile relay team composed of Clifford Falk, Curtis Soles, Chuck Engle, and Dorrell Hurst placed fifth with a time of 3:37.5. In the Eastern Regional Meet the one mile relay team composed of David Croig, Curtis Soles, Chuck Engle, and Dorrell Hurst set a new school record with a time of 3:31.5. Next year the team hopes to have an all weather track.

With the success they had with nothing better than a parking lot to run on, who knows what they will do with a track.

Girls Track and Field runs off with honors

The girl's track team approached their first season with dedication, determination, and hard work. Their team work lead them to a victorious season. The Tabb girls tied for third place in district, and came in fourth place in the Eastern Section. At the district meet the 880-medley team composed of Yvette Knott, Ronnie Knott, Lynn Vackonis, and Anne McLean placed first. (top right) Coach Johnson. J.V. baseball gets a good start

The J.V. Baseball team showed much improvement as the year progressed. The first half of their season yielded a 1-5 record. But they came back losing only two more games and chalking up five victories in their last seven games. The varsity coach eyes this record with pleasure since many of these players will aid his team in the future.

Baseball team ends first season

In the first year of varsity Baseball competition the Tiger team showed great promise. Through many depressing but hard fought games the team produced many fine baseball players. Next year for Tabb's 2nd season there are high expectations.

Tennis team shows talent

Tabb High's tennis team, coached by Mr. Robert Anderson, had a winless but competitive season. They played high class opponents as several close matches found defeat in last minute returns. Mr. Anderson sees underlying talent and skill in all of the players and expects it to emerge in future seasons.

Golf team drives ahead

Tabb's first year in golf competition proved to be disappointing, yet promising. Although as a team they did not win any matches, certain individuals came home triumphant. John Cinotto went as far as qualifying for the regional tournament. Mr. Willard Hunt, coach of the linksmen, has great expectations for the predominantly underclassman team consisting of C. Giese, M. Loding, R. Damon, J. Cole, R. Damon, M. Heslink, and J. Cinotto.
